Special to The Washington Post Georgetown, Md, Aug. 19.-An interesting legal battle looms as a pos following a near-fistic argument here between a United States mail carrier and a motor officer of mail carrier and a motor officer of ericktown, stopped here to deliver mail and pulled his car to the left side of the highway, parking it, he states, on the dirt road and away from north and south bound traffic on the concrete boulevard. Corpl. T. L. Klapproth came along on his motorcycle and ordered Cohee to show his driver's license. The carrier, protesting that he had overstepped no rule, refused to do so.

The officer then, according to Cohee, reached over and pulled the key from the engine of the mail truck so as to prevent its further progress. Cohee, who was fifteen minutes late in his work, then took the mail pouch on his back and started down the road. He was overtaken, he says, by Klapproth who, he alleges, grasped him by the collar and tore part of his shirt off. The policeman then ordered Cohee to go back and get his car. He did so and proceeded on his way.

The mail carrier has consulted State's Attorney Stephen R. Collins at Chestertown and has reported the incident to Capt. Harry Butler, in command of State police. An investigator from the commissioner' of motor vehicles is looking into the case, although no action has thus far been taken. Cohee, it is said, is considering bringing the case to trial before a Chestertown magistrate.

The same officer has been reported to the State commissioner by Dr. E. A.

Georgia Bells and Hileys are the variety now being sent out with some early Elbertas. Scores of trucks from Pennsylvania and West Virginia points, including Wheeling, Pittsburgh. Prices obtained are from 50 cents to $1.25 a bushel, according to quality. Very choice bring $1.50. Delay Technical Report.

They had purposely delayed until after their meeting issuance of the report of the technical experts who have been working to determine the money yield of the compromise offer made by France, Italy, Belgium and Japan to Great Britain. After talking together for nearly two hours, Snowden and Briand issued a cautious statement that "they had a general discussion in which, pending the report of the technicians, they had reviewed the entire situation in an effort to bring their respective standpoints into closer agreement."

For several days efforts have been made to bring the British chancellor and the French premier together so made to bring the British chancelor and the French premier together so that they might discuss the situation without either being compelled to make the first move toward break-ing the deadlock faced by the con-ference as it enters its third week. It was deemed necessary for them to meet today and reach some sort of an understanding before the financial technicians could be permitted to issue their report.

Snowden Held Right.

Snowden Held Right.

Their own findings were that Snowden has been right in insisting that Great Britain must have 48,000,000 marks (811,433,000) more annually than she is accorded under the Young plan to bring the British share of reparations up to the Spa percentages. Deducting 6,000,000 marks, considered as met by the increase in the first ten years of the Young plan annutities, there still remains 42,000,000 marks of the British demand to be met. In substance, the technicians are ready to report that they are agreed that the four-power memnicians are ready to report that they are agreed that the four-power memorandum to Snowden offers Great Britain approximately 43 per cent of of the amount the British chancellor has been demanding. The Latin delegations had contended that it gave Snowden from 75 to 80 per cent of what he asked. The British declared that it gave them only 20 to 30 per cent of their demands.

Before letting this conclusion out, It was considered highly important that Snowden and Briand should come to some sort of an understanding with each other. Otherwise, the complete deadlock would be too strongly emphasized.

New Pontoons Are Built.

New Pontoons Are Built.

Before Friday, he explained, new, larger pontoons would be put on the Mercury enabling it to carry a heavier fuel load for flight over a longer course and at the same time greatly increasing the factor of safety in landing. The new pontoons of greater buoyancy, were made at Philadelphia following designs of John S. Kean who designed the plane, and were being shipped here tonight, Commander Poppen said. Tomorrow and Thursday will be spent attaching them in readiness for Friday's flight.

Commander Poppen also insisted that a test Sunday, in which Lieut. Williams lifted the Mercury a few feet off the water and kept it up for some 400 yards, has given sufficient evidence that the plane would fly over the short course that had been laid out on Chesspeake Bay for the test, but that it was not known how the plane would stand the flight over the longer course of the Schneider Cup race. With the small pontoons that have been aupporting the Mercury, it would carry fuel for only a half-hour flight, but with the larger pontoons a flight of more than an hour would be possible.

Earnings Reports Aid Rails. Some short cov-the food business. Some short covering of the stock was induced today by a very vague rumor to the effect that an interesting announcement would be made by the company in the next few weeks.

The upswing in rails, which lifted New York Central, Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio. Nickel Plate and Norfolk & Western to record levels, got its initial impulse from July earning statements now being made public. The rails, so their market sponsors assert, will show the biggest net in history this year. This showing followed other years of good profits has enabled many carriers to accumulate some "fat," which could be passed along to shareholders.

Besides the present earnings, profit prospects are enhanced by the O'Fallon' decision which, by insisting that ects are enhanced by the O'Fal-lecision which, by insisting that duction value must be taken any consideration of value, elimion decision which, by insisting that reproduction value must be taken into any consideration of value, eliminates much of the ating in the recapture clause. It will only take a series of stock dividend or rate increases, so rail specialists believe, to fan the flames of a huge rail speculation movement. Meanwhile the interstate Commerce Commission by its plans to proceed against rail holding companies is causing cautious commitments in such securities.

Public Participation Broadens

Public Participation Broadens.

The scope of the advance the last two days plainly indicates a broader public participation. Nevertheless customers' rooms continue to be filled with sitters—traders who are holding stocks for a rise that has failed to mature. With nearly three-quarters of the entire list only slightly above their low marks of the year the present movement can hardly be termed a general bull market.

When Wall street went home tonight, it was talking about the big increase in brokers' loans that might be expected after the close Thursday. Payment of $183,000 for United Corporation & Electric Bond & Share Rights, which expired today, may affect the loan figures.

Ham elaborated, "has been that we don't object to half fares for school children, provided it is ordered by the Utilities Commission. Of course, if it were ordered, the company would have the right to demand relief from the commission in the form of higher general fares for the consequent loss in revenue."

Col. William B. Ladue, Engineer Commissioner and member of the punification agreement. He asked Ham if the commission was not in duty bound to do everything it could to improve the street car service in Washington. Ham, of course, said yes, but added, as Hanna had last week, "under the law," and then laid down the dictum, "the commission can't go beyond the law."

Unlike Hanna, who was totally unprepared for submission of the unification agreement, Ham was forewarned by Ladue's questions, and when a copy of the agreement was formerly tendered him, he declared it was not proper to ask him if his company would consider it. He said he would answer the question, but did not answer directly, reading from his company's letter replying to a query from the commission prior to the hearings.

The letter said that consideration of merger at this time would be of doubtful utility. William McK. Clayton, of the Federation of Citizens Associations, asked if the letter had had the formal approval of the company's directors. Ham said it had the approval of the board."

The rail-way president, upbane and smilling genially, leaned back in his chair and declared: "With all due respect. He declared that inasmuch as Congress had to pass on the question of merger finally, the commission would be "remiss in its duty" if it delayed decision in the fare case pending the outcome of the new effort toward merger.

Ham Sidesteps Question.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Ham introduced exhibits showing how the number of passengers of his company had fallen off continuously for the last several years, despite the fact that fares had twice been reduced and his company had inaugurated numerous bus line services. These things, Ham said, showed why it was that his company had to have higher fares.

Admits Value Has Not Declined.

"In your opinion has the falling off in passengers had any effect on the value of the street car properties?" asked Hartman. Ham blinked and value of the street car properties?" asked Hartman. Ham blinked and asked the stenographer to read the question. S. R. Bowen, general counsel of the company, saw the same dynamite in the question that Ham saw and attempted to soften the effect of the answer by asking whether the commissioner referred to market value of the company securities or the company property. Hartman said he meant his question to take all factors into consideration, and including those which would affect the value of the company, to be considered by the commission for purposes of fixing rates.

Ham, on the horns of a dilemma, made the answer opponents of fare raise hoped he would and said "no."

Ham, on the horns of a dilemma, made the answer opponents of fare raise hoped he would and said "no."
There the questioning stopped, but the answer brought into sharp contrast the fact that the company was a local peading poverty and emphasizing its constantly decreasing passenger revenues, but insisted that its properties should be valued for rate-making purposes as worth as much as they were in the heyday of company business. Ham said that the number of passengers carried by his company in rush-hour periods had not shown any decline for some time, the decline in total passengers carried being due to the fact that in June, this year, the coach company had rented but had received $4.211.75 in revenue from the use of the same buses. Harman asked whether he had considered that end was the decline in the day and the monthly reports of subsidiary companies. The book Hartman developed to the Washington Coach Co. Clayton asked if selling three tokens for 20 cents, instead of six tokens for 40 cents—the present rate—would not increase the number of token passengers. Ham said, yes, he thought it would, because he believed the use of tokens depended a good deal on the facility with which they could be purchased. He pointed out that the difference between cash and token fare was greater now that it

Anyhow, he declared, the coach company was outside the jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission.

At the same time, the view in official quarters in London was that every day gained without formal outbreak of hostilities was a point in favor of peace. Diplomatic advices today said that all was quiet in the vicinity of Manchuli, so much so that Japanese residents who had fled at the prospect of war were returning. This view of the situation was confirmed by Tokyo, where it was said there had been no serious developments for the past was all there had been no serious developments for the past and countercharges brought by both Chine and Russia are increasing in bitterness, but are doubties intended largely for foreign consumption and to justify in the eyes of signatories of the Kellogg antiwar pact their refusal to resume negotiations. Peiping Refutes Report. One of the most interesting developments was the complete refutation from Peiping of the report that 10,000 Soviet soldiers had invaded Chinese territory. Cases of raids and sabotage by Russians continued to be reported from Chinese sources, and fire so circumstantial as to leave the impression of having substantial basis. THE minute you start eating or drinking something cool, the whole temperature around you seems to improve. Business men and women know this when they order ice cream for lunch, or step up to the soda fountain for a delicious iced or carbonated drink. Menu-planners are aware of it when they order sherbet, frozen pudding, or bisque to be delivered at the dessert hour.

Aside from the immediate refreshing effect, such drinks and desserts cheer the eye by their colors and the cool click of ice. Their very elements are simple and healthful. Consider the milk, eggs, sugar, and flavoring that comprise ice cream . . . the clear fruit juices, ginger ales and sugar that go into most carbonated drinks. Also, the milk in ice cream, the amount of water and juice in the iced drinks, provide the liberal quantity of water that is a necessity in hot days. Try soda fountain servings at home. Chocolate ice cream sundaes are possible at a minute's notice. Order the ice cream from the nearest dealer-pour on the chocolate syrup from the tin in your refrigerator. Ice cream sandwiches are a delightful diversion. Put them together with wafers, and cover with chocolate, marshmallow, or fruit sauce. Substitute frozen punch for the usual floating punch at parties. Keep cones handy—and don't believe, that only children like ice cream cones. Keep ginger ale and other de-lightful carbonated drinks in the refrigerator. The Sugar Institute.

A LONG FIGHT COMING

Senator Smoot estimates that the tariff bill as proposed by the Republicans of the Senate finance committee would yield about $605,000,000 annually, which is $90,000,000 more than is collected under the present tariff, and $40,000,000 less than the House bill would yield.

Inasmuch as moderate or limited tariff revision seems to be desired by the majority of the people, it might be surmised that the bill as revised by the Senate Republicans ought to be more satisfactory than either the present law or the House bill. But even if this be true, it does not mean that the Senate draft is satisfactory.

The Republicans of the Senate committee have already discovered that their work is to be subjected to a crossfire from those who have been denied greater protection, and from those who think that the rates proposed are still extravagantly high. Both sides are disgruntled-which should convince the unprejudiced citizen that the bill must be pretty fair to everybody.

If the Senate contained a workable Republican majority it might be possible to get the finance committee's draft through Congress, substantially without change. It safeguards agriculture and gives relief to hard-pressed industries. But the Republicans can not count upon a majority in the Senate. The unholy coalition of Democrats and pseudo-Republicans is eager to begin the work of wrecking the revision made by Republicans of the finance com-

It is unnecessary to cite the various objections that have already been raised. There will be many more objections. Nothing is easier than to pick flaws in a tariff bill. Nearly every schedule will be under fire, to say nothing of the forthcoming attacks upon the administrative changes that are pro-

Senator Borah, who stands this year for protection to agriculture only, is supposed to be ready to offer a sugar bounty scheme as a substitute for a sugar duty. Senator Norris has an amendment on file, providing for the issuance of export debenture certificates to aid in the export of surplus agricultural commodities. In order to prevent undue speculation in the handling of debentures, the Secretary of the Treasury would be authorized to redeem the debentures at 98 per cent of their value. The funds with which to redeem the debentures would be taken from money derived from the collection of duties.

If the Democratic-insurgent combine should be convinced that political and personal prestige could be gained by trying to make it appear that agriculture is getting the worst of it in tariff proposals, a prolonged struggle will ensue in the Senate. There is every indication that such a struggle is impending. Debate will begin on September 4, but when will it end? Three months may be easily consumed before reaching a vote on the conference_report.

No doubt President Hoover hopes that Congress will confine its attention to the tariff during this extra session. Other subjects, however, are thrusting themselves forward, notably the cruiser question. It will be very difficult for Senator Watson to keep the Senate's mind and voice fixed solely upon tariff matters. He will do his best, because the projection of the tariff debate into the regular session would mean delay until after the holidays and perhaps until next spring, upon the eve of the congressional primaries. The confusion, doubt, and dissension attending tariff legislation should be disposed of before the next congressional campaign if the Republicans are to hold their grip upon nominal majority in the Senate. The! latter half of President Hoover's term would be unhappy, indeed, if he should be confronted with a Democratic Con-

BLUE RIDGE VALOR.

The Blue Ridge Division of the A. E. F. s holding its eleventh annual convention in Washington. This division comes from the region of the greatest battles in American nistory Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia. These men are the sons of Grant and of Lee. Naturally, the American people would expect great things from a division springing from this historic soil.

The Blue Ridge Division on the battlefield fully met every expectation of a great anestry. This Eightieth Division in the Meuse Argonne offensive alone wrote a page of deathless history. On September 26, 1918, the Americans went through the formidable Hindenburg line and drove on Montfaucon Then, on October 4, they drove on Romagne and were so badly shot to pieces that they had to go out of line for replacements.

The Blue Ridge Division almost immediately returned to the firing line for the terrible drive on Grand Pre. During this inde scribable artillery duel, this division was shifted from right to left of the battlefield. Again it was shot to pieces and went out of line. The battle action was so violent that the American battle losses averaged over 6,000 per day for over three weeks.

November 4 found this division again on the battle line. It drove on Buzancy, Mouzon, and then came the armistice. The Blue Ridge Division has the unique distinction of being the only American division that went in and out of battle action in the Meuse-Argonne offensive three times. Washington is greatly honored in having these great soldiers as its guests. The American Flag will forever shine with brighter luster be cause of their dauntless valor.

UNITY OF ACTION.

President Hoover has again indicated a disposition to cooperate with the States in projects in which both Federal and State governments are interested. His first effort to coordinate Federal and State programs came in the form of a conference on the conservation of oil. When it was found that the Government could not successfully halt overproduction in the petroleum fields, action was sought through an interstate compact to which the Federal Government would have been a party. Opposition of the States has thus far frustrated this plan.

The President now announces collaboration with Gov. Young of California in determining policies for development of that State's water resources. A commission will be organized to supervise an exhaustive investigation into problems of irrigation, flood control, power and navigation. The commission will represent several State agencies and the War Department, Power Commission and Department of the Interior. A second commission will investigate the question of a bridge across San Francisco Bay.

Unity of action on projects which involve oth State and national interests can only be commended. In the past there has been too much duplication of work by different branches of government. Some needed projects have been held up because the programs worked out at Washington and at the State capitals have not been harmonized. In some cases there has been a disposition on the parof State officials to let the Government take the full responsibility for joint enterprises and in others there has been resentment be ause of Federal interference.

It is common knowledge that the Govern ment is steadily encroaching upon the rights of the States. Many problems, which were once confined largely within State borders have become so complicated that Federal action appears necessary. If President Hoover finds it practical to cooperate with the States in joint problems, it is possible that the way toward constructive development and unified action may be found without further usurpation of States' rights.

MONTE CASSINO.

From the deliberations of the World Con gress of Librarians held at Rome last month a great advance in library science and its practical application may be expected, when the conclusions arrived at, as well as the results of the interchange of ideas, begin to be put into effect on the return of the delegates to their respective spheres of activity Without anxiety, and even with equanimity, one may look forward to innovations which will still further popularize the library every where, and make it what it was intended to be, the great enlightener and educator not of the elect alone, but also of the hol polloi-make it, in fact, in the well-known phrase, the university for the majority of the people. In the meantime, one may reflect, with a certain amount of transferred and altruistic enjoyment, if with a slight tinge of literary envy, on the various treats which were offered for the entertainment and delectation of the librarians during their European travels. It may however, be legitimately inferred that the foremost of their pleasures and the deepest of their impressions must assuredly have been the visit which many of them paid to the library of the worldfamous monastery of Monte Cassino. This monastery, founded by St. Benedict himself in 529 A. D., stands upon a range of beetling cliffs. 70 miles northwest of Naples and 92 miles southeast of Rome. It has had a checkered career. Difficult of access, it was nevertheless destroyed four times: By the Longobards in 589, by the Saracens in 884. by the Normans in 1030, by an earthquake in 1349. It was always rebuilt, and it survived even a decree of dissolution as recently

To Monte Cassino the world is indebted for the preservation of some of the most famous of the ancient classics. Among th books and documents which the visiting librarians were privileged to see and handle were original works by St. Jerome, St. Augustine, St. Cyprian and St. Ambrose; the oldest surviving papal decree, that of Pope John VIII, and the oldest text of one of the decrees of Gratian, the celebrated codifier of laws. Of more general interest, however, are "The Golden Ass" and the "Metamorphoses" the House and retain even their present of Apuleius, the "Historiae" and the "Anpublica," "De Legibus" and "De Natura De orum," and his oration, "Pro Cluentio;" Ovid's "Fasti," and the oldest grammar known, that on which practically all succeeding grammars have been based, namely, Varrone's "Latin Language."

The patient and intelligent work of the monks of Monte Cassino in copying priceless manuscripts that would otherwise have been lost forever, and in preserving them intact during raids and burnings and civil broils and commotions of nature, has placed modern scholarship under an immense obligation

THE LEFT-HAND TURN.

Although the recent referendum proved conclusively that Washington favors the present method of making the left-hand turn, agitation for modification of the regulation continues. It is persistently urged that in the interest of uniformity Washington should adopt the turn prescribed in the so-called Hoover code. Countrywide, uniformity of regulations is desirable, but a survey recently completed by Assistant Traffic Director Eldridge proves that there is no such thing as uniformity.

Replies received from 151 cities, out of a total of 270 to which questionnaires were dispatched, indicate that but 54 use the socalled Hoover turn. Twenty-three cities use the inside turn, and in 64 of the cities both turns are used. The Washington turn is used in but two other cities. The tendency, says Mr. Eldridge, is away from the so-called Hoover turn toward the inside turn, notable examples of recent changes being the city of Detroit and the States of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

So much for uniformity! There seems to be no standard practice, and so long as several methods of making left-hand turns are in use in various parts of the country, there s no reason for Washington to make a change for the sake of conforming to rules elsewhere.

The Hoover turn is deficient in at least wo respects. It leaves the judgment of the individual motorist whether he shall attempt to scoot across the lane of oncoming traffic. It compels the driver of a heavy, bulky vehicle to make a sharp turn when the logical and natural turn is one of long radius. Any system that does not take into consideration the three movements of traffic, namely, east and west, north and south, and the rotary movement when east and west changes to north and south, and vice versa, is fundamentally wrong. Not until the three traffic operations are given their separate and distinct time signals will it be possible to develop a uniform and safe rule.

CARNIVAL IN WASHINGTON

From the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Since the cherry is by no means the "national tree" of the United States, there is no compelling reason why a cherry blossom festival should be held in America, yet the plans that are being formulated in Washington for such a fete are interesting and worth consideration by the rest of the Nation. Although Washington, as the capital of the country, is the scene of a certain amount of pageantry, it has no annual celebration that attracts national attention. Such pageantry as it knows, as for instance, when foreign potentates are special guests of the Government, is not particularly colorful; it can not be compared with the pomp and ceremony that attends the opening of Parliament by the King of England, or with London's observance of the Lord Mayor's Day.

Washington, in fact, needs an annual fete and it might as well be a cherry blossom festival as anything else-indeed that would be altogether appropriate, for the cherry rees in Potomac Park, which were the gift of the Japanese to the United States Government, present a rarely beautiful scene for a or more in the spring. The move ment for a yearly carnival of three days' duration is sponsored by the Washington Chamber of Commerce. Gen. Anton Stephan reads the committee on arrangements, and there can be no quarrel with his plans as hey are outlined by The Washington Post They are elaborate enough to satisfy the most captious critic. If the Government is to have any hand in this festival, it should be an elaborate one, in keeping with the dignity and importance of its setting. It should outstrip in color and splendor, if not in beauty, the Pasadena Carnival of the Roses and in gayety the famous Mardi Gras of New

Gen. Stephan evidently holds to this opinion. His plans call for a parade of gorgeous floats, several miles long, on historic Pennsylvania avenue, the most pretentious parade of its kind ever attempted in the country; a regatta of motor boats typifying the waterfront activities of the city, and possibly a race of eight-oared shells; thrilling demonstration by Army and Nav airplanes; folk songs and dances by the school children of the District; polo matches; concerts by Army and Navy bands; nightly tableaux in the Sylvan Theater, Washington's outdoor music center; dancing and massed choruses. And, of course, the queen of th festival must be crowned. She will reach the city in a gilded barge containing, besides herself, her brilliantly-garmented entourage, and will be greeted by a fanfare of trumpets and escorted to her throne by the United States Marines. After which she will lead a courtly procession around the park speedway. In the evening there will be the grand ball, the climax of the festival, which will be attended by the President and his 'court" and the Washington Diplomatic Corps. Here the Virginia idea of a ball will be adopted and there will be stately minuets and lively Virginia reels danced by couples in costumes of the colonial period.

Gen. Stephan has left little to be desired in his plans. If they are carried out, Washington will have a carnival worthy of a Nation's capital, the only kind it should have Virginia has her festivals and enjoys them. The apple blossom festival in the valley is videly heralded, and in time the "Adventure Days" celebration in Richmond is certain to take on national significance. The growing popularity of fetes in the United States is a hopeful sign; it means that a Nation that has had to work hard for 300 years is gradually learning how to play. By all means, let Washington have her celebration.

For example, consider the careers of Philip of Macedon and his son, Alexander the Great. I condense Plutarch tells of a pitiful scene at Philip's marriage to Cleopatra. At-As talus, the bride's father, "intoxicated with liquor," losing his sense of propriety and prudence, made a re priety and prudence, made a remark which enraged Alexander, who hurled his cup at Attalus. Philip, angered at his son, stood up and drew his sword, only to stumble and fall. Alexander taunted his fallen sire:

Now for the drunken brawl in which Alexander killed his foster brother, Clitus. "The monarch and his company had been drinking hard, and the drink made the talk loud and free." There was a loud quarrel between Alexander and Clitus, and Alexander, snatching a spear from a guard, ran Clitus through. And beer wine have been making murders Pinally, after a bout of hard drink-

He was probably moved to this conclusion by the vicious influence of the liquor power in our political system. This year the midshipmen will have least to talk about, for they have made a real cruise. They were in Spain and saw the expositions at Barcelona and Seville. They doubtless attended buil-rights and had the honor of shaking hands with King Alfonso. Perhaps, some of them watched Sidney Franklin, the American toreador, as he fought in the srena to the plaudits of the Spanish people. For Franklin is popular in Spain, and his photograph adorns the stone of many a senorita. Now that he has been wounded by an enraged buil, sympathy is being extended to him by all classes of people as he lies stricken in a Madrid hospital. Messages and flowers from the highest government official to the humblest peasant testify so the devotion self for him.

Pethaps the midshipmen will tell the debutantes of Franklin and the Seville exposition when they meet this season, and then again, perhaps, they will just forget all about such things and sigh "And your eyes"

Miss Gertrude Sanford's Engagement Revealed After Return.

Climaxing her return from an exploration trip in Abyasinia, Mr. John Sanford. 9 East Seventy-second street. New York City, and of Amsterdam, N. Y. has announced the engagement of his younger daughter. Miss Gertrude E. Dul. Sanford to Mr. Sidney L. Legendre, of New Orleans, La. Mr. LeGendre and his brother, Morris, were members of the expedition into Abyasinis.

Great interest is attached to the announcement because Miss Sanford, a graduate of the Foxcroft School in Virginia, is a member of one of America's old Colonial families. She was introduced into acclety in New York City.

Miss Sanford's mother was the former Miss Ethel Sanford, a second cousin of Mr. Sanford. The bride-elect, on her mother's side, is a granddaughter of the late Gen. Henry S. Sanford, who was United States Minister to Beiglum from 1861 to 1869, and who was known as a close friend of King Leopold. Gen. Sanford in later years entered the fruit industry in Florida, founding the town which bears his name. Miss Sanford's paternal grandfather was a pioneer Amsterdam carpet manufacturer, whose business has been handed down to the son.

Both aides of Miss Sanford's family have long been identified with aports, as her father raced horses in both United States and England, while her brother, Mr. Stephen Sanford, is internationally known as a polo player and has kept race horses. Mr. Sanford played No. 1 on the American polo team which played the Argentine team in the international matches on Long Island last September, while he also was a member of the team which played the Argentines in Rumson, N. J., in 1928.

Sergeant Murphy, which won the English Grand National Steeple-chase in 1924, was one of Mr. Stephen Sanford's best horses.

When the Prince of Wales visited the United States in 1924 and attended the international polo matches between England and this country, Miss Sanford's parents entertained him at their country place. The Chimmeys, in Brookville, Long Island, Miss Sanford is a sister of Miss Jan Sanford and both are members of the Colony Club. Their father was a representative in Congress from the Saratoga district of New York some years ago.

The adventures of the bride-to-be in big-game hunting and exploration have attracted much attention with her recent trip, which she sponsored in the interests of the American Museum of Natural History, regarded as by far the most dangerous she had undertaken. Miss Sanford has had six years of big-game hunting in Canada, Alaska and South Africa.

Mr. LeGendre is a member of an old New Orleans family and is well known as a sportsman and athlete. He starred in athletics at both Tulane and Princeton Universities, of which he is a graduate. He and his brother spent a winter in Indo-China two years ago in the interests of the Fleid Museum, while Mr. Sidney LeGendre also spent seven months in the South Seas. He and Miss Sanford were coleaders in the recent expedition to Abyssinia, which was known as the Sanford-LeGendre Expedition.

The date for the weedding has been Miss Beatrice Aitchison, daughter of the Interstate Commerce Commissioner, and Mrs. Clyde B. Aitchison, have returned to Washington after a series of visits in the North. Miss Attchison will later go to Radeliffe College, where she attends the graduate school.

The date for the wedding has been set for about September 18.

Senate to Delve into Air Charge

Sweeping Inquiry Likely in September on Radio Monopoly as Stated by Independents - New Television Service.

The sweeping Senate inquiry into communications systems of the country, and especially into the charges of monopoly in the field of radio, will be resumed early in September, it was indicated when the Senate reconvened for a brief session on Monday. While the Senate committee on interstate commerce took a recess during the summer, the members are returning to Washington more determined than ever to push the investigation with the ultimate goal of recommending a communications commission that will regulate these systems.

If the Radio Protective Association has its way at the hearings which will be resumed next month, the committee of senators will also urge Congress to direct its legislative guns against the Radio Corporation of America, which the independent manufacturers contend holds a monopoly on radio patents.

Just before the hearings were adjourned in June Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, author of the bill proposing the communications comzens, of Michigan, author of the bill proposing the communications commission, obtained permission of Congress for the Senate committee to compell witnesses to give testimony. Previously, the information desired could only be requested. No person could be subpoenaed.

Radio industry leaders, particularly in the broadcasting field, are wondering, too, what the attitude of the members of the committee will be on the plea of some of the radio leaders to permit wire and wireless mergers such as has been effected in Great Hitzin. Although the matter has Britain. Although the matter has been bought out at the hearings, the senators have as yet not expressed senators have as yet not expressible relews.

It is likely that the hearings will consume the fall and part of the winter, and it is doubtful whether the communications commission bill will be placed before Congress for another year. Consequently, the Radio Commission is expecting to be allowed to continue at least through 1930.

A new system for transmitting photographs, either by radio or telemans, with portable sending and receiving instruments capable of simu-taneous general broadcasting has been brought to the United States from Europe, where it is in general use. The new device, called the Fulto-

Fulton, an Engissman, revealed the character of his machine upon arrival in New York recently.

Its portability—the compact sending set can be transported at will and attached to any telephone wire—enlarges the range of facsimile transmission almost without limit. It takes four minutes to send a picture, the transmitting apparatus functioning direct from the negative. The receiver turns out a finished photograph which actually can be seen during reception. Hence there is the possibility of development for home use, with an attachment to the home receiving set, according to the inventor.

It already is being used for broadcasting weather charts for airmen twice daily by the British air ministry from the Daventry Observatory. It now is in operation in British army maneuvers and is being considered for transmitting fleet and squadron orders by the British navy. Scotland Yard contemplates its use for broadcasting photographs and descriptions of criminals. Stock exchange quotations, transmitted from change quotations, transmitted from the negative of a typewritten sheet, Capt. Fulton began work on his invention 20 years ago and brought it to completion within the past two years. It has been adopted for broadcasting use by the governments of France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Belgium, Holland and Poland, as well as Great Britain.

THE Auction bidding would be one
No Trump, followed by three passes. But the hand was played at Contract and South bid three No Trumps, West passed, North with a count of 9 facing a hand strong enough to bid three No Trumps, indicated a chance for a slam by bid-at four No Trumps with South the Declarer.

West started by leading the Ace of Hearts, and determined to establish that suit when he found his partner without a card of it; he imagined from the make-up of the dummy that his King of Spades would be an entry. South won the third Heart trick with the Queen, and Declarer then won four Clubs and three Diamonds, the last in dummy, leaving himself with three Spades in each hand. West in the meantime had discarded one Spade and two Hearts.

Declarer then led a Spade from dummy and finessed. West won and cashed his good Hearts, making for East and West a total of four tricks which defeated the contract by one trick.

In Auction, Declarer would have had a show-down for three-odd which would have been all that he needed for game. The question is, playing with the contract four No Trumps, could Declarer have made it.

THE ANSWER.

THE ANSWER.

When Declarer discarded from dummy on closed hand's Clubs, he should have appreciated that it might be important to keep a Heart in that hand. Consequently North should have discarded two Spades. Then the three Diamonds should have been led with the third won in dummy (as played) after which, if West had discarded one Spade and two Hearts, North should have led a Heart which would have forced the lead on West and compelled him to lead up to South's remaining Ace-Queen of Spades. (West had discarded all his Hearts but one and was keeping two Spades.) Played in that way Declarer would obtain his four-odd.

How to Keep Well By DR. W. A. EVANS

MANY NAMES; SAME DISORDER.

DR. LEGGE and his associates say that toe scald or ringworm of the feet is the most widely distributed of all diseases. This disorder goes by such other names as pompholyx. Mango toe. Hong Kong foot, and Shanghal foot. You can take your choice.

In an examination of more than three thousand freshmen entering the University of California in the fall of 1928 it was found that more than one-half the men and one-sixth the women had this disorder. Since the proportion having it among the higher classmen using the symmasium was eighty-five out of each one hundred, it appear that something in college routine tends to spread it. This something is the common use of swimming pools and even the gymnasiums by barefooted people. The disorder was found especially prevalent among people who wore woolen socks. The fungus which causes it grows well on leather articles such as shoes, gloves, trusses and athletic goods as well as on woolen socks and silk socks.

Keeping the feet encased din warm gloves, trusses and activated gloves, trusses and solved as on woolen socks and silv socks.

Keeping the feet encased in warm footwear was an imporatnit factor in apreading the disorder. The harm done by going barefooted on a swimming pool floor was due to the spreading of the disease from the affected to the susceptible. Otherwise going barefooted was helpful. It helped the man who had it but was hard on the other fellow.

Talking like a doctor, Dr. Legge says there are three clinical types of the disease, the sodden, the vestcular, and the eczematoid. The raw toe or scald toe cases belong to the sodden type. The cases that develop blisters are of the vestcular type. Those that look like eczema are called eczematoid. As a matter of experience, the type changes with the weather, the amount of walking, the footwear and other factors.

Dr. Legge says the usual remedy is some one of the forms of Whitfield's paste or olntment. This, is far too strong for the acute scald or blister cases.

Dr. Castellani is now using a modi-strong for the acute scald or blister cases.

Dr. Castellani is now using a modified carbol fuchsin which he thinks is better than his former paint. It is composed of a saturated alcoholic solution of basic fuchsin, 19 parts; 5 per cent watery solution of phenol, 100 parts; boric acid, 1 part; acctone, 5 parts, and resorcin, 10 parts. This must be made up as he directs. This is applied with a little cotton every day. If the skin is raw or blistered he dilutes this solution with an equal quantity of water.

Dr. Legge is studying the disorder and he promises later reports. We hope he will tell us what pool managers and gymnasium managers can do to protect their patrons.

MAY BE HEART STRAIN.

Miss A. M. T. writes:

"Mornings going to work I am usually compelled to run to catch my train. After running a few blocks I find I am short of wind and sometimes have a pain on my right side below my ribs. It hurts for about five minutes. I also felt this pain after I had been rowing and, being very thirsty, had drunk about three or four glasses of plain soda water.

prisoners, although the prisons were designed to hold half as many.

The new penitentiary will cost solutions and the three jails $250,000. Mr. Mr. Mitchell said the program first would have to be authorized by the Budget Bureau and Congress, and then would take about six years for completion.

The Attorney General hopes the use of the Leavenworth Barracks will meet the situation until the new penitentiary is completed. It will be designed to accommodate 2,000 prisoners, while the industrial reformationy would accommodate 1,000 prisoners and each of the jails not more than 500 prisoners. He said the reformatory would be conducted along the lines of the present Federal reformatory for first offenders at Chillicothe, Ohio, which is a nonwalled prison.

"The court feels that the verdict was justified, that self-defense was antirely unsupported and that the defendant was in no danger," the ludge said, adding that he did not believe Dr. Snook told the truth when he said Miss Hix attacked him as they at in the parked automobile at a rifle range where the slaying occurred. Dr. Snook, stising from his seat, had scarcely taken a step forward when the judge swung around in his chair and asked him if he had anything to lay. The reply was in the negative. Market Loses Its Balance After Sharp Upswing in Heavy Trading.

MONEY REMAINS EASY

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.) .- The stock market leaped forward with such violence today that it lost its balance and closed with price trends confusingly irregular. The pace of confusingly irregular. The pace of trading was sharply accelerated, more than 4.600,000 shares changing hands. The buoyance of the so-called "blue chip" issues, or those selling above 200, was so startling that Wall street generally could account for it by no other theory than that investment trust accumulation of these issues had markedly curtailed the floating supply. The rapidity of the advance in these issues prompted many traders to take profits ' fear of a corrective reaction, and many gains were lost before the close.

reaction, and many gains were lost before the close.

Credit conditions remained comfortable, although bankers still look for some tightening of rates before the end of the week. Call money held at 7 per cent, and calling of loans was negligible. There was no change in time money. A few bankers acceptance dealers in New York and Boston increased their rates for the longer maturities, but this was regarded as merely a readjustment in preparation for the a 'nn demands. Reserve Board Plan Succeeds, Reserve Board Plan Succeeds.

The Federal Reserve condition statement of weekly reporting member banks showed that the system was meeting with considerable success in diverting funds from the stock market into commerce. Loans on securities were reduced $143.000.000. with leb business loans, classed as "all other," increased $41,000.000.

Despite the emphatic irregularity of price trends in the late afternoon, news was generally favorable, and Wall street foresaw nothing more than minor corrective reactions in store for the stock market. Announcement of the formation of the Blue Ridge Corporation, an investment company with authorized capital of $500.000.000, with the offer to exchange its stock for that of 21 leading stock exchange issues at prices close to current levels, was generally regarded as reassuring. Among the first July railway earnings reports coming to hand were those of Union Pacific and Erie, which were highly satisfactory.

Pacific and Erie, which were highly satisfactory.

The Standard Statistics Co.—Associated Press price indices indicated that gains more than offset losses. The indices of 50 leading industrials and 20 utilities rose about 1 and 3 points to record levels, and the index of 20 rails rose about a point to equal its record level established just a month ago. month ago.

Leaders at New High.

Lenders at New High.

As indicative of the profit taking which came into leading issues. General Electric rose about 5 points to a record level at 403, and fell back to 392½ at the close; U. S. Steel rose to a new top at 251½, but closed at 247%, off %; Allied Chemical surged up nearly 18 points, then lost more than half its gain.

Allis Chalmers was a high filer, shooting up 43 points to a record level at 330, and closing at 325, in response to reports of excertionally good earn-shooting up 43 points to a record price and unconfirmed rumors of plans to acquire another company. International Telephone made a spurt of about 12 points to a new record price above 135, and closed near the top. Continental Can, which has been regarded as selling out of line with American Can, rose more than 5 points to a new top just under 88. Other stocks to sell at unprecedented levels included Commercial Investment Trust, Commercial Solvents, Ingersoll Rand, New York Central, Ingersoll Rand, New York Central, Simmons, and Westinghouse Electric. Fastman Kodak, Montgomery Ward, and North American Co. were other strong spots. Radio rose more than 4 points to a new high for the movement above 90.

The French Line for several years experienced much trouble with atevedores, dockers, seamen and stewards organizations and some of the numerous strikes were attended by violence. There was nothing to indicate, however, that these labor troubles had anything to do with the blaze which swept through the heart of the ocean liner as she law at her dock on the eve of sailing.

Passengers for New York today sought other ateamship accommodations. It seemed probable today that the Paris would not be back in service until late in October.

CITY BANK FARMERS TRUST COMPANY, Trustee,

CAPITALIZATION

Mr. Fred Sterry, President of The National Hotel of Cuba Corporation, has summarized his letter to us as follows:

The National Hotel of Cuba Corporation, incorporated in Delaware, proposes to erect and operate a first class sixty years free of annual rental and under other favorable terms from the Cuban Government. The site is ideal, being located on the Malecon, immediately adjacent to the Maine Monument Park. It has an area of over twelve acres, is about seventy feet above sea level, and commands an unobstructed view of the Gulf of Mexico. The location affords ready access to all parts of Havana and at the same time permits a distinctly restful atmosphere due to the size of the property. At the ex-piration of the lease the land and improvements will revert to the Cuban Government.

The hotel will contain approximately 550 rooms. It will be built in accordance with plans prepared by Messrs. McKim, Mead & White, architects. is in the style of the Spanish Renaissance and adequate provision has been made for landscaping the leased property about the hotel. It is intended that the hotel and grounds be made the most attractive spot in Cuba, not only for winter tourists but also for the convenience of visitors throughout the year. A study of tourist figures indicates a rapid increase, which reflects the growing appreciation of the unique advantages of Havana as a win ter resort. The operation of the hotel will be supervised by the management of the Plaza and Savoy Plaza Hotels in New York City.

The financial program provides for an actual investment of over $7,000,000 in the enterprise, comprising the esti-mated cost of construction and equipment of the buildings, architects' fees, carrying charges during construc-tion, provision for working capital, etc. The funds therefor will be provided through the sale of the Income Debentures and the sale to the United States Realty and Improvement Company of the entire issue of Preferred Stock and part of the Common Stock for a ish sum in excess of $1,300,000.

There will be deposited in cash with City Bank Farmers Trust Company a construction fund which it is esti-mated will be sufficient to complete the construction and equipment of the hotel This fund includes an allowance for the first three semi-annual interest payments on the Income Debentures at the rate of 6% per

After completion of the construction and equipment of the hotel, the net earnings of the corporation after amortization, available for interest and U.S. income tax, are estimated at $935,000 per annum, equivalent to approximately 2.5 times the maximum annual interest requirements of the Income Debentures. Deducting the said interest requirements, allowance for U. S. income tax at the present rate, and dividend requirements of the Preferred Stock, leaves a balance equivalent to about $2.75 per share of Common Stock.

Until the Income Debentures and the Preferred Stock presently to be issued are completely retired, the net earnings, after deducting interest, U. S. income tax and allowance for preferred dividends, but before amortization, are to be applied to the retirement of the Income Debentures and the Preferred Stock. On the basis of the estimated earnings, it is calculated that on or before March 1, 1942, all of the Income Debentures and the entire issue of Preferred Stock will have been retired. After such retirements the estimated earnings before amortization are calculated as equivalent to more than $6.50 a share per annum, for the balance of the term of the lease, on the 147,000 shares of Common Stock to be presently outstanding.

We offer these securities, in Units consisting of $100 principal amount, of Debenbures and I share of Common Stock, if, as, and when issued to and received by us, subject to the approval of all legal proceedings by our counsel. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about August 10, 1929, in the form of Allotment certificates exchangeable for definitive Income Debentures and Common Stock Certificates when prepared.

Colliflower, Off Badly, Settles Down to Win, 20 to 5.

Carmen Run Wild to Turn Battle Into Riot in 8th.

FFER trailing the Union Printers for three innings yesterday by four runs, the Pullman champion representatives of Terminal Y. M. C. A. League, the Terminal Y. M. C. A. League, uncorked a powerful offensive to take the lead in the next three innings, and then made the game safe by a powerful 13-run rally in the eighth at the expense of Pinch Pitcher Heinle Webb, who had relieved Roudabush, winning by the score of 20 to 5. This uphill victory gives the Trainmen first blood in the week-day city series

20 to 5. This uphili victory gives the Trainmen first blood in the week-day city series.

Ed Colliflower, husky right-handed ace of the Pullmanites, pitched a beautiful game after a shaky start, due partly to his own wildness and the unisteadiness of his mates in the field. Fee Collier, behind the bat, shared honors with the big right-hander, due to his excellent support of the pitcher, and his steadying influence upon his mates while the going was rough. Roudabush, Typo twirier, weakened fast, after a brilliant start, and coupled with his own unsteadiness, the Printers lost their early lead.

Colliflower got himself into a hole at the very outset of the fray by walking Schneider and Edwards, the first two batters to face him. He succeeded in getting the next two batters out, but Fred Waple singled into left and Schneider scored the first run. The Pullman nine filled the bases in its half with one gone, but Roudabush succeeded in setting down the next two batters without a score.

Game Is See-Saw Affair Until the Eighth.

Until the Eighth.

The Typos then added three more runs to their total when the first two batters were safe on errors and then, with two out, Edwards singled to left, Simons walked, and the third run of the inning scored on Hall's error. But the Terminal representatives were not to be denied, and quickly tied up matters in the fourth, the result of Tripp's single. Naples' walk, Collinower's infield single, Buckley's pass, Hall's sacrifice dfy, and Walter Hughes' timely single dwom the left field line.

The Printers quickly took the lead again on Simons' double and Waple's single, but the Trainmen tied matters in their half without the aid of a hit. due to some heady baserunning. Stahl and Naples worked a delayed steal, Stahl scoring the tying run.

The sixth saw the Pullman nine
The sixth saw the runs never to The sixth saw the Pullman nine take the lead with two runs, never to be headed again. Fee Collier's timely double was oustanding in this rally. Cy Simons, the Typo handy man, after pitching a tie game against the Navai Hospital nine the previous day, came in from right field in this inning and went behind the bat. His value to the Typos can be measured by this two-day performance.

Pullman Team Runs Wild to Secre 13 Runs in Round 8.

The eighth inning was a nightmare, and the collapse of Heinie Webb's proteges, coupled with the timely hitting of the Fullmanites, piled up 13 tailies to run the score up to 20 to 5.
Buckley, left fielder of the victors, featured this eighth-linning splurge with a double and a single in two appearances at the plate. But for the fact that Pullman players deliberately walked off bases for two outs, the inning might not have ended yet.

The Terminal League representatives showed 3,000 sandlot fans present that they are to be reckoned with for championship honors by uncovering a whirlwind offensive, a smart defense, and playing heads-up bail.

Mike Hall Withdrawn; Impost Is Too Heavy

Impost Is Too Heavy Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Mike Hall, Chicago's great stake horse, will not go to the post tomorrow for the running of the $10,000 Crusader Special at the Hawthorne track, the race arranged as his farewell appearance before being shipped abroad.

(A.P.).—Jockey Eddie Watters, who was seriously injured at the barrier during the Belmont Park meeting, is ready to ride again. Watters reported to the K. E. Hitt Stable today and probably will get his first mount the latter part of the meeting, which closes August 31.

THE $10,000 Crusader. Out at Hawthorne this afternoon, the rich Crusader handleap over the one and one-eighth miles fourney will be run and won. Contrary to expectations, MIKE HALL for which the race was intended will be run and won. Contrary to expectations, MIKE HALL for which the race was intended—as a complimentary Godspeed—refused the weight allotment of 126, which to all intents and purposes seemed equitable and just. However, with the "star" eliminated, the contest probably will prove doubly attractive. BUDDY BAUER is taking up 120 pounds as against DISPLAY'S 116 and MY DANDY'S 113. The "dark horse" for the race develops in MARTIE FLYNN, which is reported on feather edge. Having shown some startling fast morning trials, the erratic WAR EAGLE is also to be reckoned with as also are EASTER STOCKINGS and LAWLEY. All things considered it should prove a corking contest.

Rose of Sharon, avoiding the interference at the break, was away well and quickly raced into a short lead and increased her lead to three lengths entering the stretch to win handlily by a length and a half. Karl Eitel, with the top weight of 12 pounds, was away well and forced the pace throughout under hard urging to take second money by a nose. Thistle Fyrn, held in restraint off the early pace, moved up when let down and appeared to have been up in time to get the place money, but was given third money by three lengths? Dr. Freeland, away in a tangle and outrun in first six furlongs, closed a lot of ground through the stretch to take the small end of the purse by four lengths. ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Clarendon va.

The Clarendon voting precinct, having been divided into two voting precincts, effective in accordance with the action of the court on August 15, the county Democratic committee at its meeting last night elected Lyman M. Kelley, of Clarendon, as precinct committeeman for Clarendon Precinct No. 2. County Democratic Chairman William L. Bragg is the committeeman from Clarendon Precinct No. 1.

cinct No. 1.

The committee, after much discus-zion, formulated its plans for creat-ing an extensive organization for carrying on the campaign for the No-vember election. Tentative plans provide for a woman's organization working out from each voting pre-cinct.

While I am confident of success at the November election for the en-tire State Democratic ticket, I don't want the committeemen to lose sight of the fact that we have opponents in the race which we must recog-nize," said Chairman Bragg.

To further study plans for the Arlington county plans for the increase in the membership of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, the membership committee, of which Clarence R. Ahalt is the chairman, will meet tonight at the home of the chairman on Arlington Ridge, Mount Vernon avenue, at 8 o'clock.

Meeting the protests of the residents along Glebe road for relief from the volume of dust resulting from the heavy traffic caused by the closing of the Lee highway, Robert I. Mount, resident State highway enginer, lost no time in having the contractors, Jarboe & Houghton, put a fleet of trucks to hauling gravel to complete that section of the road between the Lee highway and Memorial drive in accordance with the provisions of the contract.

With relief in sight along Glebe road, Engineer Mount, taking five cons of calcium chloride of the 20 cons ordered by the county, proceed-tone ordered by the county, proceeded to spread it along Garrison road and Memorial drive, both being used as State detours during construction work on the Lee highway.
